Labor To Have War Privileges

Washington, Nov. 13.—President Wilson's co-operative proposition to organized labor will be fulfilled to the letter. It was learned here today that comprehensive plans already have been perfected for dealing with the American labor situation. Portions of the new labor program already are in evidence. The new series of special agreements between coal miners and coal operators are one factor. Under this plan operators are permitted to charge more than the base prices fixed for coal and the miners receive higher wages, but to gain these advantages miners and operators must agree in writing to keep up production. There must be no strikes.

Another portion of the new labor program is the revised selective draft classifications. Under this, labor is to be kept at its work wherever possible.

Red Triangle Forces To Meet Tonight

Final Plans to be Made For Drive in Interest of "Y." War Fund.

Final plans for the county-wide campaign to raise Morgan's quota of $7,000 for religious, physical and mental training in America's new armies, will be put through at the meeting for that purpose to be held at the Y. M. C. A. tonight.

Judge L. P. Troup, the county chairman, who issued the call for this meeting, is earnestly desirous that one will not wait for another in this all important work.

At the first meeting, A. H. Hoff, Rev. Mundy, J. F. Lovin, most of the Y. M. C. A. workers and a few others were present. At the second meeting Hartselle was represented. A. A. Hardage, Dr. McGlathery, Rev. H. L. Stevenson, W. R. Hall and others were present. It is expected that these gentlemen and all others who can will join in the meeting tonight.

Dr. H. R. Thompson will be present if his physical condition permits. The question of drafting workers, as they did in Birmingham, or depending on the volunteer system, will receive attention tonight. Also the matter of securing out-of-town speakers to aid in the campaign. It is the intention now to make no undue haste, even if the campaign must be extended into next week.

Tonight's meeting will be the most important one prior to the active work and no earnest worker is expected to remain away.

(International News Service.)
Chicago, Nov. 13.—Dr. Harry J. Haiselden must find legal justification for his action in prescribing drugs for Paul Hodzia, a deformed child that eventually will cause its death, or face the grand jury if the child dies. This was the declaration today of Coronor Hoffman.

"I hope Coronor Hoffman does call me before the grand jury," said Dr. Haiselden. "I like to step on the necks of persons of the Hoffman type, and action such as threatened would open the question of a physician's right to help rid the world of abnormalities and preserve the normal."

BAKER SUGGESTS ONE-MAN ROLE IN HIS REVIEW

PAYS IMPLIED TRIBUTE TO GERMAN EFFICIENCY AND COHESION.

(International News Service.)
Washington, Nov. 13.—Tribute to the efficiency of the German government's war methods with an implied suggestion that the entente and the United States must have a "one-man direction" is contained in Secretary Baker's weekly review of the war, made public today.

The secretary at the very outset declares that "the close interpolation of events on all fronts cannot too frequently be emphasized."

He makes it plain that the German army in the east is continuing political propaganda in an effort to secure a separate peace with Russia; that the Italian retreat is orderly and that the morale of the army is being preserved, and points out on the west front that the Anglo-French forces continue their effective work.

Only brief reference is made to the work of American forces. Trench raids in which Americans suffer troop casualties should be expected, and the secretary declared that the American artillery unit which has been in touch with the enemy acquitted itself very creditably.

Mrs. Earl Wilson Is Critically Ill

Mrs. Earl C. Wilson, whose husband was formerly stationed here with the Alabama Power Company, and who has many friends in the Twin Cities, is reported to be critically ill at Birmingham from blood poisoning. Mrs. Wilson burned her neck with curling irons, the wound becoming infected. But slight hope is entertained for her recovery.

Visitors to Discuss Building of Elevator

Will Appear Before the Albany Board of Commerce at 7:30 Tonight.

T. P. Hay, Jr., of Birmingham, and Mr. Jennings, of Atlanta, will appear before the Albany Board of Commerce tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the rooms of the Board for the purpose of urging local interests to erect a corn elevator with the view of aiding in the conservation of the bumper corn crop of this section of the state.

The visitors have recently toured Georgia and Florida and have made a trip to St. Louis in their investigations of the subject which they will discuss. The business men are urged to turn out to hear them.

One of the arguments advanced in favor of the erection of a grain elevator is that it will result in a better market for the farmers.

ALBANY TERMINAL OF PROJECTED LINE

NEW INTERURBAN COMPANY PROPOSES TO CONSTRUCT RAILWAY SYSTEM.

(Gadsden Journal.)

Gadsden has been made one of the terminals of the proposed interurban line which is being projected by the Alabama Interurban Development Co. of Birmingham. A map showing the proposed routes to be built by this company has been prepared showing that the lines will extend from Mobile to Gadsden on one line and to Sheffield and Albany on the other line.

This company has been working quietly on its plans for the proposed line and has the development of the vast water power supply at Ragland under consideration. It is possible that the power which will be used to operate the projected line. For several months engineers of the company have been working on routes and the map showing the proposed routes has been completed by H. M. Gassman, chief engineer of the company.

The projected lines will pass through the richest sections of the state. It is said that the supply of high grade cement found near Ragland, the virgin timber lands in St. Clair county and the coal and iron ore land in this section have caused the company to adopt the proposed route into this district.

One of the routes projected is from Mobile to Brewton through Evergreen and Georgiana to Hayneville, with a branch proposed to connect Montgomery and Hayneville, the main route continuing through Marion and Centerville to Birmingham. This route will connect at Greensboro with the other route leaving Mobile which passes through Washington, Clarke and Marengo counties.

The Birmingham route will pass through Pell City and Ashville to Gadsden. A branch is proposed to leave Pell City going to Anniston, with a line through Talladeega to Ashland and another to Sylacauga.

The other branch leaves Greensboro going through Jasper to Sheffield and Albany.

It is understood that the company has started the work of securing options and franchises for the right-of-way of the proposed interurban line.

Germany Feeling America's Blows

(International News Service.)
Amsterdam, Nov. 13.—Germany is already feeling the force of the United States on the western battle front, says a dispatch from Frankfurt-On-Main today quoting the Frankfurter Zeitung. The paper admits that Germany has lost the air supremacy on the western front and attributes the recent heavy losses of German aeroplanes to American aviators fighting with the allies.

Italians Rally and Throw Back German Invaders in Gallio Sector

(International News Service.)
Washington, Nov. 13.—A day of reaction against the enemy all along the line marked yesterday's operations of the Italians, according to official cables from Rome this afternoon. The Italian troops, according to the dispatches, are becoming more and more aggressive. In engagements around Gallio the veteran infantry brigades of Pisa and Toscana displayed indomitable valor in a furious assault in the face of tremendous artillery fire, it was stated, reconquering positions occupied by the enemy and finally dislodging him from Gallio.

London, Nov. 13.—Victory is crowning the arms of loyal Russian forces under Premier Kerensky. A cablegram from the Finnish frontier received today by way of Stockholm says that the Bolshevik revolt has already been put down.

The provisional government forces that entered Petrograd on Monday after a fierce struggle south of the city are now masters of a big portion of the capital.

There was sharp action in the Nevsky Prospect, the principal street of Petrograd, before it was rid of the Bolshevik hordes. Many persons have been killed and wounded in the fighting around Petrograd, according to advices from that city, and the loyal troops are making many arrests of Maximilist leaders and anarchist agitators.

(International News Service.)
Copenhagen, Nov. 13.—"Victory for the loyal Russian forces in the fighting against the Bolshevik around Petrograd is virtually assured," said a dispatch from Stockholm today, giving the newspaper National Tidens as its authority.

The original telegram had been sent from Petrograd to Stockholm on Sunday during the heavy fighting at the gates of the capital.

Leaders of the Bolshevik forces in Petrograd have offered to lay down their arms and give themselves up to the loyalists, but the offer was rejected unless there was an unconditional surrender, said a dispatch to this city today from the Russo-Swedish frontier.

Moderates among the socialists in Petrograd and Moscow have been attempting to restore order and put down chaos into which Russian affairs have been thrown by Lenin and Crotzky, but the belated advices reaching here failed to say if any decisive result had been achieved.

(International News Service.)
Zurich, Nov. 13.—Three-fourths of the Venetian plain in northern Italy is now dominated by the Austro-German armies, said a press dispatch from Vienna today.

Buenos Aires, Nov. 13.—The Chilean newspaper Elmer Mercurio states that Chile will not take part in the war but will remain neutral, said a dispatch from Santiago today.

Stockholm, Nov. 13.—Many women are fighting with the loyal Russian troops under Kerensky, it was stated in advices from the border today. The location of the fighting and the outcome were not given.

Milan, Nov. 13.—Approximately 6,500,000 soldiers are massed on and behind the battle front in the Italian theatre of war, according to information here today. Italy has 4,000,000 men mobilized, but not all are under arms as there were not enough weapons to equip them. Austro-Hungary has about 2,000,000 opposing the Italians, while there are about 500,000 Germans, Bulgarians and Turks reinforcing Emperor Charles' legions.

London, Nov. 13.—Between 8,000 and 10,000 bombs are being dropped by British aviators behind the German lines monthly. This information was secured today from a member of the House of Commons.

ITALIAN REORGANIZED IS FIGHTING BRAVELY.
Rome, Nov. 13.—The Gallio region and the mountain heights are of vital importance to the enemy because it is the center of his communication with Alpiano dei Sotto, menacing the Italian flank, and also with Asiago. Italian troops completely foiled the enemy attempt and inflicted considerable losses between the Tagliamento and Lorenzago. A large detachment of Italian troops, surrounded by superior enemy forces, declined to surrender and finally succeeded in (Continued on Page Three)

Another Fine School Building Is Being Erected in County

Another milestone in the educational advance of Morgan county is the new school building being erected in Precinct 17, and which has just been christened the "Summit School," by County Superintendent J. C. Tidwell. This is one of three new school buildings ranging in cost from $2,500 to $4,000, now being erected in the county.

The county is in better condition educationally than at any time in its history," said Supt. Tidwell today. "There is still one handicap, and that is the scarcity of teachers due to the selective draft which has called such a large number of young men into the army. There are a dozen schools in the county at present that are without teachers."

THE TRIANGLE AND THE CROSS.

When the history of the war is read there will be a lot said about the work of the Red Cross and the Red Triangle. The Red Cross is an organization devoted mostly to the physical needs of our soldiers, while the Red Triangle, as its name implies, works for man's three-fold nature—his spirit, his body and his mind.

John R. Mott, general secretary of the world-wide Y. M. C. A. work, whose emblem is the Red Triangle, quotes Napoleon as saying that in war "morale is to other factors as three to one," and Senator Root as saying that "trench warfare affects profoundly and adversely the morale and spirit of the men." Mr. Mott further says:

"America wisely and generously subscribed over $120,000,000 to the Red Cross in response to the first appeal. This work of the Association, calling for less than one-third of that amount, ministers not only like the Red Cross to the physical comfort of the enlisted men and of the military prisoners but also to their intellectual nature—in other words, to their morale."

As Mr. Mott was our special ambassador to Russia a few months ago, what he says about our far-away ally should carry weight.

"Take Russia as an illustration. It through this practical means (The Red Triangle work) we can help to hold the Russian army in being during the coming winter and to promote its contentment and to strengthen its discipline and morale, it will have a vital bearing on winning and shortening the war. It means the occupying on the eastern front (and therefore not on the western and southern fronts) of over 150 divisions of German and Austro-Hungarian troops. Anyone can see that this has a vital bearing on America and the other allies. Vital is the right word to use."

In another part of his appeal that Americans assure the raising of the thirty-five million desired, Mr. Mott says:

"In all history there has not been a greater opportunity to serve men as Christ served men than the one presented by these tens of millions of men under arms and in prison camps. Now they are concentrated in trenches, in reserves, in camps; in time of peace they will be scattered and will be comparatively inaccessible in hundreds of thousands of cities, towns and villages."

If the readers of history see anything about a failure of either the Red Cross or the Red Triangle, it will be due to no other cause than lack of support. Let Morgan county be among the thousands of counties of America that does its bit for the Red Triangle during the days of the campaign which are immediately before us. Subscribe.

HELP THE RED TRIANGLE.

(Birmingham News.)
The Young Men's Christian Association and the Young Women's Christian Association campaign may seem to impinge on other worthy causes that have been met worthily by you, but never mind that! Make your subscription as if it were all new and strange and wonderful.

The Liberty Loans may have stripped you to the bone. But you have not been stripped closer to the bone than wounded soldiers are stripped when the surgeons bring them to the operating table. Pocketless of a dime, why should you worry?

You gave to the $100,000,000 Y. M. C. A. campaign several months ago? Well, what of that? The money was spent and is being spent now for equipping tents where men may spend an idle hour in writing home; or to hear music, lectures, dramatic entertainments.

You have done your bit for the Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus? Forget it! Has anyone blamed you or reproached you for it? Give more! Give and give and give! Those lads forego with digging in the clay have glimpsed the star and followed it. Have you?

They have gone ahead. We stay—for what? Either to be a help or a hindrance. We who are not with the colors are serving or we are not serving. Men "down there" and men being groomed to go down there are performing actual service, and if that service is performed heartfully there must be a whole lot put into a soldier's day besides grub and sleep, fighting and drudgery. Those things do not give a soldier what the French call morale and what the fighting American calls "nerve." Singing hearts give that. It's what wins battles. It's the thing which we soft, flabby civilians can do for the men. Help the Red Triangle and all that goes with it.

Seventy-five thousand dollars has got to be raised for the men this week—Birmingham's share of $85,000,000 to carry on the war work until next summer.

Buck up and pay now! It is no beggary for the men that the Y. M. C. A. is putting through. It is merely the act of coming clean with the fellows who are doing your job and my job.

"Pass the hat for your credit's sake, and pay, pay, pay!"

There is no more practical spot than here at which to locate a cotton mill and this people would welcome its coming. With cotton grown here in abundance, with ideal sites for a mill, freight and river advantages, water in plenty and labor awaiting employment, the eyes of the northern manufacturers will be turned here when our superior advantages are brought to their attention. We want the mill, why not go after an industry such as this. It would not only be of benefit to our cities and county but of great benefit to many manufacturers who now freight the raw cotton long and expensive hauls only to reship South at a heavy expense. Let's all pull together and secure a cotton mill. It can be done if we get to work. It will not be long until we hear the wheels of industry humming in a cotton mill if steps are taken to secure this line of industry. Hosiery and silk mills we have. Why not a cotton mill?

The creation of an inter-allied council should result in the repulse of the German invasion of Italy. Hereafter, the entente powers have fought alone, each nation apparently undertaking to protect itself. The result has been a badly bungled war, a lack of concert in action and untimely offensives in separate parts of the fighting zone. Germany has been allowed to hammer the nations to bits, one at a time, much after the fashion in which the youths snapped the fagots when taken singly.

Plans are under consideration for the building of an interurban line with Albany as a terminus, according to an article from the Gadsden Journal reproduced in today's Daily. Whether or not these plans will pan out, remains to be seen. It is quite certain, however, that sooner or later the Tennessee Valley is to be traversed by a network of electric railways. The location of the temporary nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals has already started a boom that can't be headed.

President Wilson, in his address to the American Federation of Labor, is quoted as saying: "What I am opposed to is not the feeling of the pacifists, but their stupidity." This is the best answer that can be given to those Americans who are opposed to the war. It does not apply to disloyal citizens, German intriguers nor other agents of destruction, who are neither stupid nor scrupulous.

CITED FOR DISLOYALTY.
Chicago, Nov. 13.—Five prominent citizens of Barrington, Ill., have been summoned to appear tomorrow for inquiry into their alleged German sympathies. The large socialist vote cast in Barrington at the election last Tuesday, it is declared, will be a factor in the investigation.

STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING.

An annual meeting of stockholders of Tennessee Valley Printing Co. will be held at offices of the company on November 17, 1917, at 7:30 p. m. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected and other business of importance transacted.

Local Man Writes Good Sacred Songs

Grady C. Morris, of 1407 Sixth avenue, is a local man who is attaining considerable reputation as a writer of sacred songs. Already he has sold some of these productions to music publishers, and has a number of others that he will soon offer for their acceptance.

The following, founded on the third verse of the fourteenth chapter of St. John, is one of Mr. Morris' recent contributions:

THE HOME ABOVE.

Oh! it is glorious to think of the place
That Jesus has promised to go and prepare.
Tis a beautiful city in walls so great,
That sin can ne'er enter to trouble us there.

CHORUS.

Now let us join in a glorified chorus,
In singing and praising the Heavens above.
Jesus has promised to ever be with us,
And where He is reigning there's always true love.

It is a great city of Jasper and Gold,
Built by the Savior and Angels so fair.

It is a place over I long to behold,
And I know that some day I'm going up there.

When we have all entered that wonderful place,
I know my heart never up there will repine.

For we shall be ever in the Savior's
grace
To enjoy the great pleasure of peace sublime.

Voice of the People

Camp Wheeler, Macon, Ga.,
November 8, 1917.

Editor Albany-Decatur Daily:

Dear Sir:—On October 31, 1917, the National War Work Council of the Y. M. C. A. started a campaign to raise $35,000,000 to carry on its work in army camps at home and abroad.

Having been benefitted by the same in many ways, I wish to show my appreciation by giving the folks at home an idea of the great work they are doing for the soldiers, so that they can see that it is one of the most deserving organizations in existence and deserves their support.

In each camp there are sufficient buildings to accommodate all the soldiers there. Stamps and money orders are obtainable at each building; pencils, pens, ink and stationery are free and plentiful. Victrolas and pianos, music both sacred and popular. There are Redpath Chautauqua tents with its edifying and educational program for only 15 cents admission. Its recreational program, athletics, indoor and outdoor sports, the library with books to suit each and every taste, the Sabbath school, the kindly, fatherly advice of its leaders, its readily accepted invitation to the ladies of the city to use its building for their weekly visit of entertainment, of songs, instrumental solos and recitations. All in all, it has everything to dispel the army blues, the common disease here, and last but not least, the standard of Christian ideals set by them.

In conclusion will state that every man in khaki will appreciate and ben-

The Making of a Soldier of the Seas

By RICHARD BOEKEL, Written for the International News Service

A Marine Corps Cantonment, Nov. 13.—Front line trenches, exact reproductions of those in northern France, have been constructed by the marines in training here. They cover nearly a square mile of territory, three-quarters of a mile distant from the cantonment. Until one is upon them the only evidence of their presence is a low rise in the ground at irregular intervals.

These rises, not over three or four inches in height, are machine gun emplacements. The machine gun is raised just above the level of the trench and above it there is a roof covered with heavy sand bags. The sand-bagged roof makes the shelter proof against hand grenades and shrapnel, but is ineffective against artillery shells or aerial bombs.

The machine gun's muzzle peeps out from a very small hole. It can be operated only in a straight line when in use in the trench. In front of the emplacement there is a netting of wire spread over the ground and this is covered with canvas, over which is laid a layer of branches and dirt. The purpose of this covering is to prevent shrapnel kicking up dirt that would clog the aperture through which the machine gun throws its deadly fire. In the latest machine gun shelters there is a small door of woven fagots cut by your generous support of this noble institution.

If you have the room for this would be appreciated, and be a favor to every soldier under the Stars and Stripes.

Yours truly,
T. DOUGLASS MITCHELL
Camp Quartermaster.

JEWEL'S JUBILEE GIRLS MAKE HIT AT MASONIC

When Leslie Golden removed his golden tresses at the conclusion of the performance at the Masonic last night, the audience that packed the playhouse gasped and took notice. It was the first intimation that it had received that there was so clever an impersonator in the cast. Julian Eltinge himself couldn't have put the illusion over stronger.

The dashing soubrette who proved to be a man, was but one of a number of features to the good bill presented by Jewel's Jubilee Girls, which opened for a week's run with change of program nightly. Mack & Bennett, as the "maid and the toothpick" were clever in themselves, and the masculine half of the team is the nearest approach to a human skeleton that ever dragged living bones over the local boards. The Moira Twins presented a Hawaiian dance that brought them an encore, while Conrad Hipp was a very acceptable comedian with a peculiar laugh. The Jubilee Trio pleased with a number of vocal selections.

The girls—five of them, with special emphasis placed on the all-southern center—were a very considerable part of the show. They had vivacity, good voices, good looks and costumes galore. Their dancing was a feature. The company appears tonight in a complete change of program.

Schaut Examined By Colbert Board

Former Local Man Explains Why He Did Not Appear for Examination in Morgan County.

Albany-Decatur Daily:

I was informed today that the last Thursday issue of your paper had me among others listed as a slacker for failure to report for examination.

These are the facts: I was ordered to appear before the local board of Morgan county for physical examination on Oct. 3. On July 30, before leaving Decatur, I applied for and secured an order from the board of Morgan county, to appear before the local board of Colbert county for examination. I did as ordered and was in due time discharged, after examination, for physical disability.

If I was correctly informed, won't you, in justice to myself, and in keeping with your deserved and well-known reputation for fairness, publish in the next issue of your paper, and with as prominent space as the articles in question, a correction?

With sincere personal regards, I am Truly yours,
LOUIS SCHAUT.
Sheffield, Ala., Nov. 11.

(Editor's note:—Mr. Schaut's name was published as one of a list that had been certified to the district exemption board by the county board as having for various reasons failed to appear for examination. He was not published as a "slacker." However, the Daily takes pleasure in giving his letter prominence.)

SPARROW IS NAMED AS NEW CENSOR FOR NAVY.

INTENSIVE LOADING HAS MADE CARS AVAILABLE.

Washington, Nov. 13.—Fairfax Harrison, chairman of the Railroads' War Board, authorizes the following:

On 77 of the principal railroads of the United States a saving of 114,109 cars was effected in one month this year solely by increasing the average loading of less than carload freight.

The reports on which these figures are based, the latest that have been compiled, cover the months of July this year and July, 1916. They show that the average loading for that class freight during July this year was 3,827 pounds as compared with an average of 11,619 pounds during the same month last year.

The 77 railroads from which reports have been received were able to move the total volume of less than carload freight last July in 579,180 cars. Had the average loading per car been at the same rate as during July, 1916, they would have been compelled to use 693,289 cars.

In addition to increasing transportation efficiency through intensive loading, the railroads are also waging a vigorous campaign to reduce the number of cars and locomotives under repair. The July reports show that the average number of freight locomotives in shop or awaiting repairs was 4,122 against 4,460 in the same month last year, a decrease of 7.6 per cent. Freight cars under repairs in July numbered 135,831, which was 3,647 less than in July, 1916, a decrease of 6 per cent.

Sammies Growing Accustomed to Fire

Men Don't Mind High Explosives Much More Than They Do Raindrops.

(International News Service.)

With the American Army in France, Nov. 13.—American troops are bearing up splendidly under their first experience of being shelled by the enemy. This is the unanimous opinion of the officers of the second battalion entering the trenches, who were visited by the correspondent of the International News Service.

"That is one great thing, this first trip to the front is teaching the men," said one battalion commander. "Of course, we have not had a lot of it, only an occasional dose of high explosives and shrapnel, but the men have gotten so they don't mind it much more than they would the pelted rain drops of a hard shower."

ARGENTINA A STRONG ALLY

Regarded Far More Valuable Than Spain to United States and Other Nations Fighting Germany.

When the congress of Argentina voted to sever relations with Germany the people of the most powerful neutral left in the ranks of the pacifists showed their determination to join the allies. Argentina could work more good to the allies than could Spain. Her war potentiality is greater, for while her army is only 24,000 strong, compared to the 140,000 which Spain maintains, according to a publicist, her wealth far surpasses that of the older nation. Argentina is young, strong, clean-limbed. Spain is old, fuddled and doddering.

The South American republic was the last dangerous nation whose people turned against the kaiser. Its entrance into antagonism to Teutonicism would mark the final and crowning blunder of German diplomacy.

None of the passive nations could give the allies so much in the way of vital help as could Argentina. After the United States, her sympathy and determined support are more to be valued by the democratic powers than any other unembroidered nation. Now she is girding her loins to follow her great Northern sister into the good work.

Argentina's population is only 8,000,000, in comparison to the 20,000,000 of Spain, but her manhood is developing while Spain's is anything but aggressive. Her character is made of cosmopolitan forces, the best and hardest of the adventurous races.

BATTLE FIELD DEATH TEST

Minimum Quantity of 33 Per Cent Solution of Dionin Recommended to Academy of Medicine.

Uncertainty as to whether a person be alive or dead is especially great on the battlefield, and prompt decision in such cases is far more important than in civil life, writes a correspondent at the front. Dr. A. Terson has just recommended to the French Academy of Medicine a new test, those already known having proved insufficient. The best of these latter has been the injection of fluorescein, as devised by Icard. But even this is uncertain, for in some cases men who are still alive do not show the green coloration of the whites of their eyes following infection, which the test is supposed to produce.

Dr. Terson recommends placing in the eye a minute quantity of a 33 per cent solution of dionin (ethyl-morphine), glycerine. If death has already taken place, nothing happens, but if the man has the slightest trace of life still in him the white of his eyes will immediately turn purplish-red and swell, but this inflammation will disappear rapidly and leave no ill effect.

COURT DECIDES BEES ARE WILD ANIMALS.

(International News Service.)

Kansas City, Nov. 13.—Bees are declared to be wild animals, according to a jury in the Wyandotte county court. W. T. Holland was acquitted on a charge of grand larceny, as it was shown to the satisfaction of the jury that the bees swarmed to his place.

Holland rented a farm from J. C. Hume on which there were eleven hives of bees. When Holland left there were sixteen hives, and he took five of them. Hume accused him of taking them unlawfully. The attorney for Holland was able to prove that bees were wild animals and won the case.

AMUSEMENTS

Theda Bara in "Heart and Soul," Based on H. Rider Haggard's "Jess," Delite and Star Tomorrow.

"Heart and Soul"—Jess is taken when a child by her mother to the Hawaiian sugar plantation of her uncle. Her little sister, Bess, goes with her. En route the mother dies and exacts a promise from Jess that she will always look out for the welfare of her younger sister, Bess.

When the girls grow to young womanhood Bess is wooed by Martin Drummond, a cruel planter and renegade, whose estates border on that of the girl's uncle. Bess spurns him, hoping to win the love of John Niehl, a young American. Niehl pays little attention to her, as his love is for Jess.

Jess learns of her sister's love for Niehl and, recalling her vow to her dying mother, she leaves home to overcome her own heartbreak, leaving Bess and Niehl to know each other better.

Bess, still spurning Drummond, is captured by the latter, who has started a revolution against the United States government. Niehl goes to rescue her, but is wounded and captured. With Jess he escapes and they make their way back to her home, only to find it in the hands of Drummond.

Jess faces a crisis. Should she care for the wounded man she loves or go to her sister and rival? Duty to her oath wins. She rides to a distant fort and brings a detachment of United States soldiers to the rescue. Niehl meantime has been captured again by Drummond and, with the girl's uncle, ordered shot.

Just as the firing squad is about to shoot, Jess returns with the American troopers. Drummond, mad with hate, fires into the charging soldiers. Jess falls and is taken to the house dying. She places Bess' hand in Niehl's and tells him to look after her little sister. She dies.

"REDEMPTION" WILL BE SHOWN AT MASONIC AT AN EARLY DATE

Monday will inaugurate the third capacity week at George M. Cohan's theatre of Evelyn Nesbit and her son, Russell Thaw, in "Redemption." Capacity audiences at every performance, afternoon and night, during the past week indicate the interest of the public in this remarkable production. Seats are now selling two weeks in advance. Evelyn Nesbit would have won international fame as a motion picture star of the highest rank had name been wholly unknown to the public previous to her portrayal of the leading character in "Redemption." This young woman of ten thousand sorrows shows herself to be the possessor of unusual histrionic ability. Charming natural in her lighter moments, she is strong and sure in the emotional scenes. Her depiction of mother love is one of the most exquisitely touching things ever witnessed on stage or screen. In the poignant scene where she tells her son, grown to man's estate, of the cruel circumstances, which, when she was young and trusting, made her the plaything of a libertine, she appeals with irresistible and tear-compelling effect.—Exchange.

TREE CLIMBING TAKES DON'T ASTONISH DANIELS.

(International News Service.)

Washington, Nov. 13.—Secretary Josephus Daniels of the navy department is nothing if not blasé.

Recently, when he was inspecting the marine corps camp at Quantico, Va., enthusiastic officers demonstrated some new tank style gun tractors for him. They ran the machine on the level, then up grades and over obstacles. Secretary Daniels enjoyed the demonstration, but did not burst forth into expressions of great wonder.

Then the officers volunteered to run a machine down into a trench, up the side and out again. Another said he could make his machine climb a wall, but Secretary Daniels led his party on to inspect something else.

"I've heard they've got machines in France that will climb trees," he said.

Only Three Super-Six Phaetons at $1650

When our present allotment consisting of 3 cars is exhausted, then we will have sold the last Hudson phaeton that can be had at present prices.

Prompt action will save you a great deal of money.

Hudson cars are the last to be effected by increased material costs. Cars which have sold at $1,200 to $1,400 now cost about as much as the present price of the Hudson Super-Six. Cars which were sold at about its price have been advanced $300 to $500.

Hudson prices have thus far remained unaffected because the cars are built of materials which were bought last year before material costs had seen their greatest rise. By buying now you take advantage of that fortunate situation.

Remember there are only 3 Hudsons to be had at $1650 f.o.b. Detroit. On some models our allotment at these prices is entirely exhausted.

Prompt buying will save you money. You should be one of the 3 fortunate persons to get one of these cars at $1650.
